Marshall

ICONIC SOUND.
INSTANT RECOGNITION.

Marshall is one of the few audio brands people recognize immediately. The design is unmistakable, the sound is proven, and the brand carries a legacy tied directly to music culture. It is not just a speaker or a pair of headphones, it is something people already know, trust, and want to use.

Across speakers and headphones, Marshall delivers strong, balanced sound with a look that stands apart from standard tech. The vintage-inspired design, textured finishes, and signature details make it feel intentional, not interchangeable. It shows up as a product people choose, not something they are given.

Camp Snap

Camp Snap strips photography back to what people enjoy about it. No screens, no retakes, no editing. Just point, shoot, and stay in the moment.

Made to feel like a throwback disposable camera, but built for repeat use, Camp Snap creates a more intentional way to capture experiences. Photos are saved digitally and downloaded later, but the moment itself stays uninterrupted. It is simple by design, and that is exactly the point.

Roborock brings advanced floor care into a category people already understand, pushing it further with smarter, more precise technology.

As a leader in robotic cleaning, Roborock focuses on intelligent navigation, strong performance, and thoughtful design that makes everyday cleaning feel effortless.
